

Final energy productivity

Final energy consumption in relation to gross domestic product (GDP)

* The projected development is based on the climate protection targets pointed out in the Energy Concept 2010 published by the German Federal Government. According to that final energy productivity should rise by 2.1 % annually between 2008 and 2050. Therefore, the target value is 332 in 2050.

Source: German Environment Agency on the basis of: Gross domestic product: German Federal Statistical Office, Serie 18, Fachreihe 1.5, Table 1.1 as of 11/2021; final energy consumption: Working Group on Energy Balances, Evaluation Tables on the Energy Balance, as of 09/2021

 Preliminary figures.